The Night of the Storm

Name _____ Date _____

Fiction | 200 words | Figurative language

I read it: ☆ to myself ☆ to a grown-up ☆ to a friend

1 The storm arrived just after dinner. The wind howled around Grandpa's farmhouse like a hungry wolf, and rain drummed on the roof. Then, with a pop, the lights went out. The whole house was as dark as the inside of a closed fist.

2 Amir felt his heart race. He had never liked the dark, and the farm was miles from the nearest town. "Grandpa?" he whispered. A match scratched, and a small flame bloomed in the blackness. Grandpa lit an old oil lamp, and the kitchen glowed like a slice of sunset.

3 "Storms are just the sky clearing its throat," Grandpa said, settling into his chair. He pulled a dusty board game from the cupboard. As the thunder grumbled, they played round after round, and Grandpa told stories about the blizzard of his childhood, when snow had swallowed the barn up to its roof.

4 Somewhere in the middle of the third game, Amir realized he was laughing. The wind was still howling, but it sounded farther away now, like a dog barking in another town. When the lights flickered back on, Amir was almost disappointed. "Can we turn them off again?" he asked. Grandpa chuckled and blew out the lamp.
